Beating the Index with ETFs

This paper uncovers a new source of tax efficiency for ETFs—using highly correlated ETFs to harvest capital losses without violating the wash-sale rule. By exploiting the tax loophole, investors can potentially earn a better return than the index. The study reveals that highly correlated ETFs have an average monthly tax-loss trading volume of 9.1% of their assets under management, which accounts for 20.7% of their total trading volume. Tax-loss harvesting is negatively related to past returns, especially for recent and negative ones. ETFs with high past volatility have higher tax-loss trading volumes, while smaller and less liquid ones have lower tax-loss trading volumes. This paper develops a parsimonious model to explain the relationship between tax-loss harvesting and past price movements. Simulations with the model predict an annual tax revenue loss of 0.52% of assets under management for highly correlated ETFs, equivalent to approximately 25 billion USD in 2021.

Term Structure of Equity Return Volatility

- Finding that volatility feedback effects of dividend strips decreasing with different horizons
- O Explaining the pro-cyclical term structure of equity returns with the term structure of volatility
- O Simulating and testing three leading macro-finance models according to empirical findings

Short-Duration Equity Return Puzzle

- Constructing the expectation of S&P 500 dividends from those of constituents with IBES data
- Calculating forward-looking required rates of return and Sharpe ratios for dividend strips
- O Showing conditional Sharpe ratios during crises too high to be explained by mainstream models

Return Predictability from Industry Network Effects: Evidence from Rolling Window Adaptive Lasso

Estimating industrial network effects with US monthly return data using the adaptive lasso

2015-2019

- O Showing the inherent model instability of the industry network via rolling window regressions
- Examining out-of-sample predictability of the past returns by conducting non-parametric tests

Research Assistant to Prof. Martin Schmalz and Marianne Andries

2023

- O Coding in MATLAB for the Horizon-Dependent Risk Aversion (HDRA) model
- O Numerically solving for the timing premium, the term structure, and other moments

University of California, Los Angeles

Los Angeles, US

Research Assistant to Prof. William Zame

2022

- O Coding in MATLAB to solve equilibrium portfolio choices of an index fund model
- O Providing economic interpretations for simulation results

University of Oxford Oxford, UK

Research Assistant to Prof. Martin Schmalz

2022

- Coding for simulations of a common ownership model in MATLAB
- O Providing economic interpretations for simulation results

University of Oxford Oxford, UK

Research Assistant to İrem Güçeri

2020-2021

- O Cleaning Bureau van Dijk Orbis Intellectual Property database
- Conducting statistical analysis based on research needs
